MILLER ELECTED AS CHAIRMAN

Popular Supervisor of Libertyville Comes in for County Honors

The Lake county board of supervisors met in special session Wednesday of last week at Waukegan for the purpose of organizing. All members were present. The complexion of the board remains the same with the exception of one member, Supervisor Johnson of Waukegan, who was elected to succeed Unger.

Supervisor Lamey of Cuba township was unanimously chosen as temporary chairman. The board then proceeded to ballot for permanent chairman. Supervisors Robertson, Huntington and Miller were the candidates. On the third ballot Supervisor Miller of Libertyville township received eleven votes out of twenty cast and was declared elected as chairman.

The chairman-elect made a speech after the election, thinking the supervisors for the office, which is a vastly important one and which comes to a vastly popular man, and announced that committee appointments would be made Thursday.

Chairman Miller is the right man in the right place. He succeeds Alexander Robertson of Highland Park, mayor-elect of that city, universally respected.

After the election the county board allowed Harry Brown of Lake Forest, $150, because of his blindness. Brown was injured in an accidental explosion at a Lake Forest mansion and has been blind ever since.

Following on this allowance, routine business was taken up and finally an adjournment was taken until Thursday morning.

Board met Thursday morning pursuant to adjournment with Chairman Miller in the chair, who announced the appointment of the following standing committees:

TIFFANY SECURES EXTENSION

By Which Highwood People May Have till January 1 to Close Out.

In the state senate, on Tuesday, Senator Tiffany of this place, introduced a bill by which he amended the Highwood saloon restriction bill by which, instead of being effective at once as the original bill provided, it is to be effective, January 1 of next year.

This gives the people who own property within the saloon limits of Highwood and North Chicago, plenty of time in which to dispose of their holdings. Under the original bill, the saloons would be put out of commission at once and the owners of property raised a big protest against it and since then they have made various kicks in their endeavor to prevent its passage.

The house, however, turned down Representative Gibbon's amendment wherein he sought to postpone time for closing out saloons, but Senator Tiffany has made it easier for the property owners by having the senate pass the bill which gives them until January 1 to dispose of their holdings.

According to advices from Springfield Senator Tiffany has received assurance that the house will concur with the senate in this action, hence it is practically certain that the new law will be effective, January 1 instead of at once as many had expected.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR NEW ELECTRIC

Fourth, Round, Grays and Bruce Lakes to be Stations on Interlake Resort Line

Prospects are brightening for an interlake electric line to connect Lake country summer resorts.

One is already existent in plans and capital is being sought to interest itself so that the road may become a reality.

It is a much needed public convenience.

The road projected will have its boundaries at Fourth Lake on the north, Round Lake on the west, Grayslake on the south and Bruce Lake on the east and will connect with all resorts of importance, which will add greatly to the convenience for Waukegan and other resorts, as the only means of connection now is by bus and coach.

The road proposed will connect with the St. Paul at Grayslake and with other roads at different points.

N. Jacobson of Grayslake, is mentioned prominently in connection with the new line.

Our Parts in Life.

Not to all men is it given to be heroes or geniuses, victorious, admirable always, or even to be simply happy in exterior things; but it lies in the power of the least favored among us to be loyal and gentle, and just, to be generous and brotherly.—Maeterlinck.

BOYS ATTEMPT BOLD ROBBERY

Break Glass in a Waukegan Bicycle Shop to Steal Tires

One of the most daring attempted robberies ever perpetrated in Waukegan was frustrated Monday evening by the merest chance. Three boys, all under the age of fourteen years, broke one of the windows in the front of the Browne Auto and Bicycle repair shop on South Genesee street, but the noise of the falling glass attracted the attention of C. Lazzaroni who was standing inside his fruit store on the corner of Water and Genesee street.

Rushing out he took the youngsters by surprise who at once took to their heels. Quick as they were in getting out of sight they were recognized by Mr. Lazzaroni, who has given the names and descriptions to Mr. Browne.

In an interview Mr. Browne stated that he is inclined to give the boys a chance, considering their extreme youth. If they step to the front and settle for the broken pane of glass he will say nothing about it and the matter will be dropped without their names even becoming known. But in case they do not see fit to do so, Mr. Browne states that he will prosecute them to the limit and will do his best to see that they are landed in the reform school.

William Derry, one of the employees of the shop states that he was in the store until 8:30 o'clock when he left for his home. The evidence of Mr. Lazzaroni is as stated above. After the boys had run away, Mr. Lazzaroni thinking they would come out behind his store on Water street ran around that way hoping to capture one of the young robbers, at least. He was mistaken, however, for instead of going in that direction the boys ran around Biralow's coal office and made their escape. They were recognized by Lazzaroni who says he can identify them.

When Mr. Browne was asked as to what he thought the boys were after, he replied that they undoubtedly were after some valuable bicycle tires that have been on display in the window for a few days past. Mr. Browne stated that there had been $150 worth of tires on display.

Notwithstanding all this the attempted robbery was a bold one and showed that the boys possessed considerable nerve. They were assisted in their work by the fact that the window was already cracked and therefore did not take as much force to break it.

CRUELTY TO HUMBLE HEN.

Man Complains of Mean Trick Played on Defenseless Biddy.

"The meanest trick I ever heard of," said a poultryer, "is now being played on a certain family of New Jersey hens. This trick comes under two heads. It comes under the head of cruelty to animals and under the head of giving intoxicating drinks to minors. It should be taken up and put a stop to by our female societies. Let the sex stand by one another all the way down the line." "But I thought you were talking about eggs?" "I am talking about eggs. That is the point to my story. You know how hens only want to set at certain times after they've laid a couple of dozen eggs running? Well, on this New Jersey hen farm I speak of they feed the hens alcoholized grain, and while the poor, unprotected creatures are under the influence they place them on top of nests of eggs, and when they come to themselves the past is a blank, they think they laid the eggs beneath them, and for many days squat there dutifully until the chicks are hatched. It's a money-making trick, but it ain't right. To make a poor hen drunk to deceive her besides is so important a matter as that of offspring! How would you like to be deceived about your offspring? No, sir, it ain't right, and it ought to be put a stop to."

Taking No Chances.

Marion, aged five years, was quarantined with the measles when a new baby arrived at her aunt's next door. A week later when taken to visit the little stranger her aunt, lying in bed, asked: "Aren't you going to kiss me, Marion?" "No," replied the late victim of the measles, "I might catch what you have."

JURY TO SAVE TED COLLIER

Convicting Jury Ready to Ask For Leniency From the Judge

The case of Ted Collier who is under trial for the murder of Dreyer is one that has awakened widespread interest throughout the country. As will be remembered Dreyer was found one morning lying dead in the road, evidently having been run over by an automobile. It was brought out at the trial that Collier, an auto expert, had passed over the same road in his machine during the night and it was alleged that he was responsible for Dreyer's death. At the trial in the Circuit Court last week he was convicted of manslaughter, but court was adjourned until April 29, without the Judge having passed Collier's sentence. Now in the meantime a most remarkable state of affairs have been brought to light in connection with the case. It became known on Monday of this week that members of the jury which tried Collier have held a meeting that they may save Collier from a prison term and it is stated on absolute authority that these members of the jury are ready and willing to go before the district attorney and Judge Belden and plead for leniency for the convicted man. One of the jurors in an interview said: "In all our consideration of the guilt of 'Ted Collier' not once did we consider it possible that he should be sent to prison and the understanding among the jurors was that should we vote to find Collier guilty it was with the understanding that he should pay a fine. At a meeting of the jurors on Saturday two of the men who had voted from the first for the conviction of Collier were present and these men suggested the plan of going before the district attorney and the court and in some manner showing to them the opinion of the jurors in regard to the penalty for Collier. The court handed us two forms of verdict and neither of them offered us any chance to make any recommendation as to the penalty that should be imposed on Ted. We all felt that for the best interests of the community Collier should be fined, but not one contemplated the possibility of a prison sentence. I am certain that the sentiment of the three jurors will be sanctioned by every man who sat on that jury during the more than two days deliberations."

The statement of this juror who is one of the best known farmers in Kenosha county, is one of the most unusual ever made, and it is thought that this is the first time in the history of the Circuit Court for Kenosha County that members of a jury have held a conference for the purpose of appealing to the court for leniency for the man they convicted of crime. It is not known whether any suggestion from the jury would be accepted by Judge Belden or the district attorney, but it is certain that the bare fact of the action of these jurors when brought to the notice of the court will have considerable weight in determining his decision as to the penalty to be paid by Collier.

It is not thought that District Attorney Baker will take any further action to demand a prison sentence for Collier, and it is admitted that in his speech to the court on Thursday last he had no enmity in his heart toward the accused man or his friends, but that it was simply his zeal as a public prosecutor that caused him to make the recommendation that he did. The matter of the sentence of Collier will probably be taken up next week.

TEMPLES OF SOUTH AFRICA.

Great Areas Enclosed by Solidly Built Stone Walls.

The temple ruins at Rhodesia are puzzlers. The erudite folks used to say they were ancient, but Dr. Randall MacIvers, their latest explorer, says they were built in the Middle Ages. He says the great "elliptical temple" was the fortified residence of the great chief or Monomotapa, whose sway extended over an enormous area and an extensive population. To understand how architectural feats like the finer Rhodesian buildings can have been achieved by the precursors of the modern South African natives it is necessary to assume that in those days there was organization of a far higher character than has obtained in recent years, organization under great chiefs whose power and intelligence were of a relatively high order. From the Portuguese and their records this would appear to have been the case in the days of the Monomotapan empire of the Middle Ages down to the close of the sixteenth century. The organization of labor implied by the elaborate and decorated stone architecture is remarkable. Even more remarkable than the fortified castles are the terraced walls. These stone built walls form irregular concentric rings around the hills upon which the villages were situated, and although structurally simple, cover an enormous area, extending in close formation over a space of upward of 50 square miles.

Object Was Not Purchase.

Managers and clerks in large department stores of necessity have to deal with all classes of people, and they often have most amusing experiences, owing to the peculiarities of their customers, says the Philadelphia Record. While waiting for an exchange at the silk counter in a Market street establishment a clerk told a West Philadelphia shopper a story which she has since been circulating among her circle of friends. "An uptown customer," the clerk said, "last week had six yards of a most expensive silk sent C. O. D. The next day the package was returned to us and upon it was written: 'Returned. I was only teaching my daughter how to shop.'"

Restricted Conversation.

"I said to myself," said the careful man, "that never again in New York would I ask a man how his wife was, he is so likely to have been divorced and got him another wife between the times I have seen him. No. Not unless his wife is standing right in front of me will I ask him that, and then it is not necessary. But the other day, mind you, I met a child I knew and said to her, 'Maud, dear, how are you mother and father?' and she straightway answered, 'Why, didn't you know that mamma and papa had separated?' So now, you see, I can't ask after anybody. I must restrict my conversation entirely to the weather."

Waukegan is to have a lace curtain manufactory if present plans work satisfactorily. This industry is to be started by an organized stock company, incorporated last March and capitalized for $100,000.

Rural Rout carriers in this vicinity as elsewhere in the United States, will enter upon their $900 a year salary with the beginning of the third quarter, July 1, 1907, according to an announcement from Washington.

Farmers are more than usually busy this spring. For some years back hired help on the farm has been a scarce article but this spring seems to be the limit for the farmers declare that it is now impossible to employ help with out paying fabulous wages and even then enough help can not be procured. In consequence many farmers are seeding down a part of their land only tilling what they can work themselves.

A Kansas genius seems to have solved the milking machine problem and apparently has gone beyond what was asked by even the most exacting dairyman. This genius has just patented a device run by an electric motor fastened on the cows back, the electricity being generated by a dynamo attached to her tail. It strains the milk and bungs up the pail and strainer. A small phonograph accompanies the outfit and yells "So!" whenever the cow moves. If she kicks, a hinged arm catches the milk stool and jams her over the back. With such an efficient machine as this in existence the farmers of the Lake County dairying district need no longer worry for its valuable assistance they will still be able to carry on their dairies in the of the hired help prob-

Horse, Dealer Injured But Does Not Know How.

Frank Parker, a well known horse dealer of Bristol, is just recovering from the effects of a peculiar accident and one of which he has no recollection, and although at the present time he is able to be out of the house he has a strange lapse of memory on the matter and cannot recall anything of how it happened.

About a week ago Parker staggered into his home in almost an unconscious condition and remained only semi-conscious for about three days. Dr. Stephens was summoned and discovered a bad contusion on the back of Parker's head.

On the day the accident occurred, Mrs. Parker went to the barn and found a colt running about loose with the lines dragging and the harness badly broken. It is supposed that Parker was either hitching up the colt or was driving it when it got away and it is thought that the wound on his head was caused by a kick from the horse. Parker can recollect that that he tried to hitch up the colt but can not tell in what manner he received the injury.

One peculiarity about the matter is that every thing else is perfectly clear to him.

Dowie Estate Looses.

In the case wherein the heirs of Fredrick Sutton contested his will leaving his property valued at $54,000 to John Alexander Dowie, was last week decided in favor of the Sutton heirs.

The case was carried up from the Lake County Circuit court to the highest State Court. It is claimed by the heirs that at the time of making his will Sutton was mentally unsound and that undue influence had been brought to bear upon him.

Dowie fought the case hard, insisting that Sutton was in his right mind and that he, Dowie, knew nothing of being made the beneficiary in the will until after Sutton's death.

With the case decided against Dowie, his heirs will loose one of the biggest sources of revenue that his estate was expected to develop.

Buying by Moonlight.

"I made a queer trip one night not long ago," said the agent of a cemetery company. "I went out to the cemetery after dark with a prospective customer, so she could see how the burial lot under consideration looked by moonlight. The lady was of a romantic turn of mind. She had taken a fancy to a plot on a little knoll overlooking a lake, but before closing the deal she insisted upon seeing the effect of the moonbeams on the water and surrounding landscape. I had sold many lots under peculiar circumstances, but that poetic phase of our business was something new. The lady seemed to derive considerable satisfaction from it. Anyway, she bought the lot."

Organized Company to Build Road For Use of Automobiles.

With farmers fighting the progress of the road at every step, a new plan has been found to complete the building of the Sheridan Drive between Chicago and Milwaukee, and a company with this end in view has been organized under the laws of the state of Maine with a capital stock of $500,000. This company plans to complete the lake shore road, and to make of it a private road for the use of which toll charges will be made. It will be built along the lake shore.

A feature upon which much depends is that the highway will avoid the towns and cities between termini. It is felt by the idea, that the streets leading from these municipalities are sufficient to enable the users of the road to reach it without the further expense of spur feeders. The rights of way then will be secured through open country, just skirting the towns, and where property is at present at a low price per acre.

Milk Companies Seeking Site at Bristol, Wis.

The village of Bristol is to have a great bottling factory, as agents of the Borden Milk Company, and of the Key and Chapel Company, both of Chicago have been in that village during the past week seeking to purchase a site for a factory, and it is possible that both companies may open a plant at the village.

The Borden company is now seeking to purchase the building owned by the Bristol creamery, and if this deal goes through the bottling factory will probably be opened within a few weeks. The dairy-men of Bristol are expecting to realize greater profits from their product when the plant is opened.

Retail Merchants Buncood.

Retail merchants are being warned against the work of bogus government inspectors, who claim to be operating under the pure food law. It is said these men demand samples of goods for examination, informing the merchants that they are officers. They refuse to pay for the goods saying they have a right to take them. When the samples are taken that is the last the merchants hear from them, and they are out just the value of the goods taken. Merchants are advised to demand evidence that men calling for samples are really officers. The real officers are compelled to pay for the stuff taken, as they were before the first of the year.

The Nicest Way He Knew.

A Boston physician has two young hopefuls, Master Tommy and Miss Jennie, the latter the elder by a year or two. A few days ago Master Tom came in, whimpering, with the complaint: "Papa, Jennie's got my roller skates on, and I want 'em, and she won't give 'em to me." "Did you ask her for them kindly, my son?" "Yes, papa." "Well, suppose you go back and try again. Ask her just the nicest way you know, and see if you can't get them." The youngster trotted out, and the father from the doorway heard him ask in wheedling tones: "Jennie, for God's sake, let me take them skates!"

THE DELUGE

"Do not put me to the test," I pleaded. Then I added what I knew to be true: "But you will not. You know it would take some one stronger than your uncle, stronger than your parents, to swerve me from what I believe right for you and for me." I had no fear for "to-morrow." The hour when she could defy me had passed.

A long, long silence, the electric speeding southward under the arching trees of the West Drive. I remember it was as we skirted the lower end of the Mall that she said even-ly: "You have made me hate you so that it terrifies me. I am afraid of the consequences that must come to you and to me."

"And well you may be," I answered gently. "For you've seen enough of me to get at least a hint of what I would do, if goaded to it. Hate is terrible, Anita, but love can be more terrible."

At the Willoughby's she let me help her descend from the electric, waited until I sent it away, walked beside me into the building. My man, Sanders, had evidently been listening for the elevator; the door opened without my ringing, and there he was, bowing low. She acknowledged his welcome with that regard for "appearances" that training had made instinctive. In the center of my—our—drawing-room table was a mass of fresh white roses. "Where did you get 'em?" I asked him, in an aside.

"The elevator boy's brother, sir," he replied, "works in the florist's shop just across the street, next to the church. He happened to be down stairs when I got your message, sir. So I was able to get a few flowers. I'm sorry, sir, I hadn't a little more time."

"You've done noble," said I, and I shook hands with him warmly. Anita was greeting those flowers as if they were a friend suddenly appearing in a time of need. She turned now and beamed on Sanders. "Thank you, she said; 'thank you.' And Sanders was hers."

"Anything I can do—ma'am—sir?" asked Sanders.

"Nothing—except send my maid as soon as she comes," she replied.

"I shan't need you," said I.

"Mr. Monson is still here," he said, lingering. "Shall I send him away, sir, or do you wish to see him?"

"I'll speak to him myself in a moment," I answered.

When Sanders was gone, she seated herself and absently played with the buttons of her glove.

"Shall I bring Monson?" I asked.

"You know, he's my—factotum," she answered.

"I do not wish to see him," she answered.

"You do not like him?"

After a brief hesitation she answered, "No." Not for worlds would she just then have admitted, even to herself, that the cause of her dislike was her knowledge of his habit of tattling, with suitable embroideries, his lessons to me.

I restrained a strong impulse to ask her why, for instinct told me she had some special reason that somehow concerned me. I said merely: "Then I shall get rid of him."

"Not on my account," she replied indifferently. "I care nothing about him one way or the other."

"He goes at the end of his month," said I.

She was now taking off her gloves. "Before your maid comes," I went on, "let me explain about the apartment. This room and the two leading out of it are yours. My own suite is on the other side of our private hall there."

She colored high, pale. I saw that she did not intend to speak.

I stood awkwardly, waiting for something further to come into my own head. "Good night," said I finally, as if I were taking leave of a formal call.

She did not answer. I left the room, closing the door behind me. I paused an instant, heard the key click in the lock. And I burned in a hot flush of shame that she should be thinking thus basely of me—and with good cause. How could she know, how could she have known, that I had said to myself, "But the woman's ill, though it may take long—very long." And I went on my way, not wholly downcast.

I joined Monson in my little smoking-room. "Congratulations," he began, with his nasty, supercilious grin, which of late had been getting on my nerves severely.

"Thanks," I replied curtly, paying no attention to his outstretched hand. "I want you to put a notice of the marriage in to-morrow morning's Herald."

"Give me the facts—clergyman's name—place, and so on," said he.

"Unnecessary," I answered. "Just our names and the date—that's all. You'd better step lively. It's late, and I'll be too late if you delay."

With an irritating show of deliberation he lit a fresh cigarette before setting out. I heard her maid come. After about an hour I went into the hall—no light through the transoms of her suite. I returned to my own part of the flat and went to bed in the spare room to which Sanders had moved my personal belongings. That day which began in disaster—in what a blaze of triumph it had ended! I slept with good conscience. I had earned sleep.

XXII.

"SHE HAS CHOSEN!" Joe got to the office rather later than usual the next morning. They told him I was already there, but he wouldn't believe it until he had come into my private den and with his own eyes had seen me. "Well I'm jig-gored!" said he. "It seems to have made less impression on you than it did on us. My missus and the little un wouldn't let me go to bed till after two. They sat on and on, question-ing and discussing."

I laughed—partly because I knew that Joe, like most men, was as full of gossip and as eager for it as a convalescent old maid, and that, who-ever might have been the first at his house to make the break for bed, he was the last to leave off talking. But the chief reason for my laugh was that, just before he came in on me, I was almost pinching myself to see whether I was dreaming it all, and he had made me feel how vividly true it was.

"Why don't you ease down, Black-lock?" he went on. "Everything's smooth. The business—at least, my end of it, and I suppose your end, too—was never better, never growing so fast. You could go off for a week or two, just as well as not. I don't know of a thing that can prevent you."

And he honestly thought it, so little did I let him know about the larger enterprises of Blacklock and Com-pany. I could have spoken a dozen words, and he would have been floundering like a caught fish in a basket. There are men—a very few—who work more swiftly and more surely when they know they're on the brink of ruin; but not Joe. One glimpse of our real National Coal ac-count, and all my power over him couldn't have kept him from showing the whole Street that Blacklock and Company was shaky. And whenever the Street begins to think a man is shaky, he must be strong indeed to escape the fate of the wolf that stumbles as it runs with the pack.

"No holiday at present, Joe," was my reply to his suggestion. "Per-haps the second week in July; but our marriage was so sudden that we haven't had the time to get ready for a trip."

"Yes—it was sudden, wasn't it?" said Joe, curiously twitching his nose like a dog's at scent of a rabbit.

"How did it happen?"

"Oh, I'll tell you sometime," replied I. "I must work now." And work a plenty there was. Be-fore me rose a sheet of clamorous tel-egrams from our out-of-town custom-ers and our agents; and soon my an-teroom was crowded with my local following, sore and short. I suppose a score or more of the habitual heavy plungers on my tips were ruined and hundreds of others were thousands and tens of thousands out of pocket. "Do you want me to talk to these peo-ple?" inquired Joe, with the kindly intention of giving me a chance to shift the unpleasant duty to him.

"Certainly not," said I. "When the place is jammed, let me know. I'll jack 'em up."

It made Joe uneasy for me even to talk of using my "language"—he would have crawled from the Battery to Harlem to keep me from using it on him. So he silently left me alone.

Toward ten o'clock, my boy came in and said: "Mr. Ball thinks it's about time for you to see some of these people."

I went into the main room, where the tickers and blackboards were. As I approached through my outer office I could hear the noise the crowd was making—as they cursed me. If you want to rile the true inmost soul of the average human being, don't take his reputation or his wife; just cause him to lose money. There were among my speculating custom-ers many with the even-tempered sport-ing instinct. These were bearing their losses with philosophy—none of them had swooped on me. Of the perhaps three hundred who had come to ease their anguish by tongue-lash-ing me, every one was a bad loser and was mad through and through—those who had lost a few hundred dol-lars were as infuriated as those whom my misleading tip had cost thousands and tens of thousands; those whom I had helped to win all they had in the world were more savage than those new to my follow-ing.

I took my stand in the doorway, a step up from the floor of the main room. I looked all round until I had met each pair of angry eyes. They public and the financiers that I had broken with speculation and specula-tors, could I have had a better than this unexpected opportunity sharply to define my new course? And as Textiles, unsupported, fell toward the close of the day, my content rose to-ward my normal high apirit. There was no whisper in the Street that I was in trouble; on the contrary, the idea was gaining ground that I had really long ceased to be a stock gambler and deserved a much better reputation than I had.

I searched with a good deal of anxi-ety, as you may imagine, the early editions of the afternoon papers. The first article my eye chanced upon was a mere wordy elaboration of the brief and vague announcement Mon-son had put in the Herald. Later came an interview with old Ellersly. "Not at all mysterious," he had said to the reporters. "Mr. Blacklock found he would have to go abroad on business soon—he didn't know just when. On the spur of the mo-ment they decided to marry." A good enough story, and I confirmed it when I admitted the reporters. I read their estimates of my fortune and of Anita's with rather bitter amusement—she whose father was living from hand to mouth; I who could not have emerged from a forced settlement with enough to enable me to keep a trap. Still, when one is rich, the reputation of being rich is heavily expensive; but when one is poor the reputation of being rich can be made a wealth-giving asset.

Even as I was reading these fables of my millions, there lay on the desk before me a statement of the exact posture of my affairs—a memoran-dum made by myself for my own eyes, and to be burned as soon as I mas-tered it. On the face of the figures the balance against me was appalling. My chief asset, indeed my only asset that measured up toward my debts, was my Coal stocks, those brought and those contracted for; and, while their par value far exceeded my li-abilities, they had to appear in my memorandum at their actual market value on that day. I looked at the calendar—seventeen days until the reorganization scheme would be an-nounced, only seventeen days!

Less than three business weeks, and I should be out of the storm and sailing safer and smoother seas than I had ever known. "To indulge in vague hopes is bad," thought I, "but not to indulge in a hope, especially when one has only it between him and the pit." And I proceeded to plan on the not unwarranted assump-tion that my Coal hope was a present reality. Indeed, what alternative had I? To put it among the future's un-certainties was to put myself among the utterly ruined. Using as collat-eral the Coal stocks I had bought outright, I borrowed more money, and with it went still deeper into the Coal venture. Everything or nothing!—since the chances in my favor were a thousand, to practically none against me. Everything or nothing!—since only by taking everything could I possibly save anything at all.

Home! For the first time since I was a squat little slip of a shaver the world had a personal meaning for me. Perhaps, if the only other home of mine had been less uninviting, I should not have looked forward with such high beating of the heart to that cold home Anita was making for me. No, I withdraw that. It is fellows like me, to whom kindly looks and un-bought attentions are as unfamiliar as flowers to the Arctic—it is men like me that appreciate and treas-ure and warm up under the faintest show or shadowy suggestion of the sunshine of sentiment. I'd be a lit-tle ashamed to say how much money I handed out to beggars and street gamins that day. I had a home to go to!

As my electric drew up at the Wil-loughby's, a carriage backed to make room for it. I recognized the horses and the coachman and the crest.

"How long has Mrs. Ellersly been with my wife?" I asked the elevator boy, as he was taking me up.

"About half an hour, sir," he an-swered. "But Mr. Ellersly—I took up his card before lunch, and he's still there."

Instead of using my key, I rang the bell, and when Sanders opened, I said: "Is Mrs. Blacklock in?" in a voice loud enough to penetrate to the drawing-room.

As I had hoped, Anita appeared. Her dress told me that her trunks had come—she had sent for her trunks! "Mother and father are here," said she, without looking at me.

I followed her into the drawing-room and, for the benefit of the ser-vants, Mr. and Mrs. Ellersly and I greeted each other courteously, though Mrs. Ellersly's eyes and mine met in a glance like the flash of steel on steel. "We were just going," said she, and then I felt that I had ar-rived in the midst of a tempest of un-common fury.

"You must stop and make me a visit," protested I, with elaborate po-liteness. To myself I was assuming that they had come to "make up and be friends"—and resume their places at the trough.

She was moving toward the door, the old man in her wake. Neither of them offered to shake hands with me; neither made pretense of saying good-bye to Anita, standing by the window like a pillar of ice. I had closed the drawing-room door behind me, as I entered. I was about to open it when I saw working in the old woman's face. She had set her will on es-caping from my loathed presence with-out a "second," but her rage at hav-ing been outgeneraled was too frac-tious for her will.

TOLEDO TRUSTS HIT
MEN AND CONCERNS IN BUILDING
TRADES ARE INDICTED.
CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED
Leaders in the Business and Financial Circles of the Ohio City
Accused in Grand Jury Report.

Toledo, O.—The grand jury's in-vestigation into the alleged trusts blamed for the increased cost of building op-erations and high rents in Toledo re-sulted Saturday in the return of 245 indictments against 83 leading busi-ness men and the following combina-tions: Toledo Master Plumbers' as-sociation, Toledo Brick Supply com-pany, Toledo Lumberman's bureau of credit, National Supply company and Toledo Supply company.

The indictments charge conspiracy in restraint of trade. The wide scope of the investigation and the great number of persons accused make the grand jury's report more sensational than the local trust indictments. Some of the men named in the indictments are among the most prominent busi-ness men in the city. Several of them are not actively engaged in the busi-nesses which have been under inves-tigation, but are interested indirectly and are included in the charges made against the firms.

In the list of lumbermen and brick men indicted are the names of men high in local financial circles. The head of the local lumber trust is said to be the Toledo Lumbermen's Credit association, with offices in the Spitzer building. This trust is alleged to have had complete control of the lum-ber market, raising the prices when it saw fit and compelling outside con-cerns to sell only to them, making it impossible for the independent dealer to get material outside the trust.

The Toledo Brick Supply company, alleged to be an illegal combination of brick manufacturers in restraint of trade, is declared to have been or-ganized for the purpose of controlling the price of the product of local brick manufacturers. Since the passage of the Valentine anti-trust law it has changed its form, but Prosecutor Wachenheimer expects to show that it has continued to monopolize the local brick business.

The National Supply company, the only corporation indicted, deals ex-tensively in plumbing supplies, oil wells, machinery, and all manner of plumbers' and carpenters' tools.

The lumber dealers are charged with having plundered the contractors and through them all the home build-ers in Toledo. Those who pay rent are also said to have had to pay tribute through increased rent neces-sary to recoup the landlords for the high cost of building.

LOILO WIPED OUT BY FIRE.
Philippine Town, Capital of Panay
Island, Is Destroyed.

Manila, P. I.—The town of Iloilo, Island of Panay, was totally de-stroyed by fire Friday morning, with the result that 20,000 persons are homeless. As this dispatch was filed the conflagration was still raging and owing to the heavy wind blowing it was beyond control.

The civil and military authorities were doing everything possible to check the flames and assist the suffer-ers. No estimate has yet been made of the amount of damage done and no details of the fire are obtainable, owing to communication with Iloilo being se-riously affected.

[Iloilo is the capital of the Island of Panay, located on the east coast. The port, which is the second in im-portance in the Philippines, next to Manila, is the center of the sugar trade.]

A wrecking train leaving the city yards to clear another wreck ran into the Woodlawn Junction wreck.

President Van Hise said that there was absolutely no suspicion of any misappropriation of funds, but admitted that there had been failure properly to charge up certain invest-ments to their proper accounts.

CHILI VOLCANO IN ACTION
PUYEHUE THROWS FORTH SHOW-
ER OF HOT ASHES.
People Are Panic-Stricken—Repeated
Earthquake Shocks Accompany the Eruptions.

Lima.—Puyehue, the big vol-cano in the province of Valdivia, Chili, is devastating the country around it, and has thrown the inhab-itants into a state of panic. The eruption is most violent and several new craters have opened. Enormous damage has been done.

Showers of hot ashes are falling and there are continued earthquake shocks accompanied by subterranean explo-sions.

Absolute darkness would prevail but for the light from several fires over an extent of six miles.

A great number of cattle have been killed near Lake Ranco. Several brooks which furnished drinking wa-ter for the people have dried up.

Manila, P. I.—Earthquake shocks were felt here at intervals for three hours early Friday morn-ing. Three of the shocks were severe, but the majority were very light. Reports received here from the southern part of the island of Luzon announce that severe earthquakes were felt at Nueva Caceres, Camarines province, and at Tayabas, 62 miles southeast of Manila. Buildings were destroyed in both places but no loss of life has been reported. Commu-nication with the two cities mentioned is affected.

A tremor was experienced at Ma-nila with intermittent shocks for three hours this morning. Three of the shocks were severe, but the majority of the others were scarcely perceptible.

Charleston, S. C.—A slight earth-quake shock was felt in Char-leston and Summerville at 3:25 o'clock Friday morning. In the latter place it was said that dishes rattled and ornaments were knocked from the mantels. In Charleston only a very few people knew of the shock until after breakfast. From various points in the city people reported having been awakened by a rumble followed by three slight wave movements. It lasted about eight seconds and was apparently from southeast to north-west.

BAD FAITH IS CHARGED.
Eddy Defendants Make Answer to Complaints.

Concord, N. H.—The charge that the suit for an accounting of the property of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, filed March 1, was not brought in good faith by the so-called "next friends" named in the suit, is con-tained in the answer of the defendants in the action, which was filed in the Merrimack county superior court Wednesday.

The defendants charge that these "next friends" have been induced to loan their names for use in the suit "at the instigation and at the expense of certain evil-minded persons, not re-lated in any way to said Mary Baker G. Eddy or having any interest in her or in her estate."

The answer of the defendants is a general denial of all the allegations made by the complainants in the ori-ginal action, George W. Glover, Mary Baker Glover and George W. Baker, who sued as Mrs. Eddy's "next friends."

ANOTHER MARVIN CLEW FAILS.
Lad at Gloversville, N. Y., Is Not the Kidnaped Boy.

Gloversville, N. Y.—Myles Standish, a nephew of Dr. H. M. Marvin, of Dover, Del., father of Horace Marvin, Jr., the kidnaped child, arrived in Gloversville Sunday morning to see the child held here on suspicion that he is the kidnaped Marvin boy.

Mr. Standish went at once to the place where the boy was stopping with the woman alleged to be the wife of Al H. Allen, the suspected kidnaper, and saw the child. He made a minute examination of the lad, romped and played with him for half an hour before he became thoroughly convinced that the boy was not Hor-ace Marvin, and so announced to Chief Smith, who accompanied him.

The Evolution of Household Remedies.

The modern patent medicine business is the natural outgrowth of the old-time household remedies.

In the early history of this country, EVERY FAMILY HAD ITS HOME-MADE MEDICINES. Herb teas, bitters, laxatives and tonics, were to be found in almost every house, compounded by the housewife, sometimes assisted by the apothecary or the family doctor. Such remedies as pica, which was aloe and quassia, dissolved in apple brandy. Sometimes a hop tonic, made of whiskey, hops and bitter bark, a score or more of popular, home-made remedies were thus compounded, the formulae for which were passed along from house to house, sometimes written, sometimes verbally communicated.

The patent medicine business is a natural outgrowth from this wholesome, old-time custom. In the beginning, some enterprising doctor, impressed by the usefulness of one of these home-made remedies, would take it up, improve it in many ways, manufacture it on a large scale, advertise it mainly through almanacs for the home, and thus it would become used over a large area. LATTERLY THE HOUSEHOLD REMEDY BUSINESS TOOK A MORE EXACT AND SCIENTIFIC FORM.

Peruna was originally one of these old-time remedies. It was used by the Mennonites, of Pennsylvania, before it was offered to the public for sale. Dr. Hartman, THE ORIGINAL COMPOUNDER OF PERUNA, is of Mennonite origin. First, he prescribed it for his neighbors and his patients. The sale of it increased, and at last he established a manufactory and furnished it to the general drug trade.

Peruna is useful in a great many climatic ailments, such as coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, and catarrhal diseases generally. THOUSANDS OF FAMILIES HAVE LEARNED THE USE OF PERUNA and its value in the treatment of these ailments. They have learned to trust and believe in Dr. Hartman's judgment, and to rely on his remedy, Peruna.

HOW CLASSIC WAS WRITTEN.

Bret Harte's Great Poem Result of an Inspiration.

The war correspondent, Frederic Villiers, has recorded a talk with Bret Harte apropos of the poem, "Dickens in Camp."—"We all felt his loss most keenly in the States," said Harte:

"On hearing of his death (I) sat down about three in the afternoon to write an editorial on the great author. I wrote one and then tore it up. Then another, after much pains, was written. This did not please me, so I tore it up. I wrote yet another and threw it into the waste paper basket; it would not do. It was getting late, and I was now keeping the paper waiting for press. I was drumming on my desk, absolutely without another thought in my head; I had run dry. Suddenly I mechanically began to write and the result was the thing you seem to like so much. Well, Mr. Villiers, you are not far out. I like it, too."

SKIN SORE EIGHT YEARS.

Spent $300 on Doctors and Remedies but Got No Relief—Cuticura Cures in a Week.

"Upon the limbs and between the toes my skin was rough and sore, and also sore under the arms, and I had to stay at home several times because of this affliction. Up to a week or so ago I had tried many other remedies and several doctors, and spent about three hundred dollars, without any success, but this is to-day the seventh day that I have been using the Cuticura Remedies (costing a dollar and a half), which have cured me completely, so that I can again attend to my business. I went to work again to-night. I had been suffering for eight years and have now been cured by the Cuticura Remedies within a week. Fritz Hirschclaff, 24 Columbus Ave., New York, N. Y., March 29 and April 6, 1906."

French Sailors Use Drugs.

The extent to which the narcotic habit prevails in the French navy was illustrated a few days ago by the proceedings of a court-martial at Brest. The defendants were half a dozen seamen of ordinary rating, who were charged with a considerable number of robberies. All the men were victims of opium or the other habit, or both combined, and were in the habit of bemuddling themselves daily with these drugs and the robberies had been committed to gratify their passion. Severe sentences were passed.

Bishop Potter's Answer.

A young clergyman in a remote country district wrote last Easter time to Bishop Potter, saying that he was about to take a wife, and asking if, to save some other clergyman a long and weary journey, he could not marry himself. The bishop's reply was marvelous in its concision. It said: "Could you bury yourself?"

So Garfield Tea in the Spring—it will save you many days of headache, lassitude and general ill health. This natural laxative purifies the blood, cleanses the system and establishes a normal action of liver, kidneys and bowels.

BARRINGTON TO DIE

FEDERAL SUPREME COURT DECIDES AGAINST HIM.

HE SLEW JAMES P. MCCANN

Prisoner, Who Claimed an English Title, Greatly Depressed by the News That He Must Hang.

Washington.—In an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller, the supreme court of the United States Monday dismissed the case of Frederick Seymour Barrington, alias "Lord Barrington," under sentence of death in St. Louis for the murder of James P. McCann in June, 1903, thus affirming the decision of the supreme court of Missouri and sustaining the verdict of guilty returned by the trial court.

This case has been before the public for several years, and has attracted great attention, largely because of Barrington's pretense of bearing an English title, under which shortly before the tragedy with which his name is connected he married a young woman of good family residing at Kansas City.

Barrington made a vigorous fight in the St. Louis courts, contending that his conviction was the result of prejudice and that the charge was not sustained by proof. When the Missouri supreme court decided against him he brought the case to the federal supreme court on a writ of error, contending that his trial had not been fair.

St. Louis.—When the information concerning the United States supreme court's decision, sustaining the verdict of guilty of the murder of James P. McCann rendered by the trial court, was conveyed to "Lord" Frederick Seymour Barrington, who is confined in the county jail at Clayton, Barrington was apparently greatly depressed but endeavored to conceal his feelings.

"I expected the decision Monday," he said, "and I had a feeling that the ruling of the court would be against me. I suppose this is the last resort. As I see it, there is nothing left but the fixing of the date of execution by the Missouri supreme court. The United States supreme court passed only on a question of jurisdiction. It seems hard that a man's life should be taken away on a mere technicality like that."

STOLEN BONDS RECOVERED.

Part of Douglass' Alleged Plunder Found in Manhattan Club.

New York.—A portion of the bonds alleged to have been taken from the Trust Company of America by William C. Douglass, who is under arrest on a charge of larceny, were recovered Monday in an apartment in the Manhattan club.

It was stated Monday afternoon that Mrs. Douglass had disappeared and her friends became exercised over her absence. She was found at night, however, at the home of her parents in Brooklyn. There were rumors of possible additional arrests but the detectives denied they had taken any action.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Little One's Ears. Send for circular, free.

Custom Strict in Japan.

Society is very strict in Japan about the little matters of hairdressing, and woe betide the woman who would neglect to abide by the prevailing custom. Not alone in the better classes, but among the poorer people as well, the eligible young woman, the widow who wishes to marry again, and the widow who doesn't, may always be distinguished by the way in which they dress their hair.—Modern Society.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

Sensible Advice to Women from Mrs. Henry Lee, Mrs. Fred Certia and Mrs. Pinkham.

MRS. HENRY LEE MRS. FRED CERTIA

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

This is the most critical period of her whole existence and every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period to likely to become violent and with a host of nervous irritations make life a burden. At this time also cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularities, constipation and dizziness are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when this great change may be expected.

Mrs. Fred Certia, 1014 So. Lafayette Street, So. Bend, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the ideal medicine for women who are passing through Change of Life. For several months I suffered from hot flashes, extreme nervousness, headache and sleeplessness. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I had made up my mind there was no help for me until I began to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it brought me safely through the danger period, built up my system and I am in excellent health. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound unsurpassed for women during this trying period of life."

Mrs. Henry Lee, 60 Winter Street, New Haven, Conn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "After suffering untold misery for three years during Change of Life I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wrote you of my condition, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and followed your advice, and to-day I am well and happy. I can now walk anywhere and work as well as anyone, and for years previous I had tried but could not get around without help. I consider your medicine a sovereign balm for suffering women."

Women passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If there is anything about your case you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is free and has guided thousands to health.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health, actually thousands of women, you cannot well say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." It is your duty to yourself and family to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Framers of the earliest laws which have come down to us gave particular attention to the question of the rights of employees," writes an observer. "Those wonderful statutes which the great Babylonian King, Hammurabi, codified over 40 centuries ago have law upon law devoted to the rights of servants. If the servants were free born then their rate of payment was fixed for them, their scale of compensation established in the event of their suffering loss or injury. For the most part, of course, the servants of that age were slaves. For these, too, provision was made. If a doctor injured a servant in a surgical operation he had to pay half the price which that slave cost; if death resulted the master received slave for slave. If the patient were cured, then his master had to pay the doctor's fee—two shekels of silver."

AN EARLY SACRIFICE OF SPRING GARMENTS

THE lingering of winter in the lap of spring has greatly delayed the selling of spring garments in stores the country over. This has done away with the reorders upon which the makers so greatly depended and has put them to their wits end to dispose of their surplus stocks. Thus these makers, in order to obtain an outlet for their productions, quite naturally, are eager to sacrifice much or all of their profits in order to create business.

For this reason we can offer outer garments at prices which are fully a fourth lower than those quoted earlier in the season, quality for quality.

Fortunately we received our regular lines of Suits, Coats and Skirts unusually early this season and were therefore enabled to take full advantage of the brisk trade during the warm weather preceding Easter, practically closing out everything.

Now we are in a position to take full advantage of the manufacturers' misfortune and will place on sale Saturday, and as long as they last, 200 beautiful Suits, picked up at remarkably low prices for cash. Also a superb assortment of nobby Coats.

ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.

The Criminaloid.

That the public soon really bites into wrongdoers of the modern type may be read in the fate of the insurance gang. If, as some assert, American society were already split into classes, each with its standards and its opinions, these robbers would have taken asylum with their own class, and from the thick of the "crowd," would have waved a gay and mocking hand at the wrathful public. Haughty Roman patricians, Spanish hidalgos French seigneurs, or British noblemen would have done so, heeding the curses of the commonalty no more than the chattering of daws. But the insurance thieves were self-made Americans, country bred, genial, sensitive, uncarcared by pride of caste. Their sense of superiority was, after all, a short and feeble stock, that soon wilted. They did care what the people thought of them, and so to the grave, or to exile, they fled from the vitriol spray of censure. If only we can bring it to bear, says E. A. Ross, in Atlantic, the respect or scorn of the many is still an immense asset of society in its struggle with sinners.

Must Learn to Think.

The young people of to-day as compared with those of 50 years ago are chiefly deficient in power of sustained attention and original thinking. They cannot, or at least they do not, think as clearly, as patiently, and as cogently as did their fathers. They do not as quickly distinguish the irrelevant from the pertinent, the kernel from the husk, as the men of the last generation. They have an amazing fund of information; they are wide readers of bright ephemeral literature; they have tasted every fruit on the great tree of knowledge; they know a thousand interesting scraps; they are more versatile and ingenious and attractive than any other of the recent generations. But, says President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown University, in Leslie's Weekly, they are quickly led astray by sophistry, and easily led to surrender conviction when it conflicts with interest.

That the balloon is expected to play a part in war, and possibly an important one hereafter, is evident from military procedure abroad. In Germany careful attention is given to the matter by army authorities. A novelty in German military practice is about to be instituted, and the outcome will be interesting. Both free and captive balloons are to be sent up, and coast artillery batteries will use the balloons as targets. Hitting balloons will be much more difficult than striking ships at sea, for in addition to discounting the motion of the aerial vessels there will be the height which the projectiles must attain to be effective. Fighting with airships will be certain to multiply the problems with which military science has to deal.

In another year or so, when the extension of the Florida East Coast railway, now under construction, is completed to Key West, and fast ships, modeled after the English channel vessels, bring Cuba within five hours, by sea, or an American railway running through trains north, east and west, Havana may become the greatest winter resort in the western hemisphere. Over 30,000 were bandied in and out of Havana by the various lines during the last touring season of December, January, February and March.

It is said with respect to the percentage of gifts and with respect to the activity of the ordinary members of the churches, Christianity in Korea is far ahead of Christianity in America. Certainly, for ingenious, open-hearted, childlike Christianity, says a writer, I have never seen anything to equal these Koreans. Their manner, their word and their work irresistibly suggest the church of the apostolic age.

There is one Broadway (New York) office building that attracts attention by the lack of signs on the windows. It is a tremendous big building, with scores of windows, not one of which bears the name of a firm except several on the ground floor which are decorated with the name of a banking concern. The owners of the building object on artistic grounds to utilizing the windows for advertising purposes.

Ninety-one young men have just been admitted to the practice of law in New York. The presiding judge who admitted them said there were already 18,000 lawyers practicing in New York city. No wonder the price of shingles is advancing.

The Goulds are objecting to the lawyer's fee of $176,000 for obtaining a divorce from Boni. Strange people, the Goulds, when you consider the fact that they paid several millions to capture Boni.

MUST GET TO WORK

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE HAS MUCH TO DO IN SHORT TIME.

FEW NEW LAWS MADE

Only Seventy-Nine Bills Have So Far Been Laid Before Gov. Deneen for His Signature—Two Important Measures.

Springfield.—After three months and a half of legislative session 79 bills have been laid before Gov. Deneen for his signature and become laws. In the remaining three weeks of the general assembly the real work of the legislature will have to be done. Only three measures of any general importance have been passed, two being appropriation bills carrying $150,000 for the continuance of the Illinois Central investigation, and one raising the salary of circuit court judges. A bulletin calling attention to the fact that all the work of the assembly remains yet to be done has been issued by William O. Wilson, secretary of the publicity bureau of the Legislative Voters' League, in Springfield. The inference that the legislators have been wasting their time is not exactly fair, inasmuch as the work of committee consideration of bills requires time, but the fact remains that in three weeks nearly all the new laws which will be put on the statute books will be passed.

State to Get Large Sum.

By a recent decision of the supreme court the ex-state treasurers and auditors of Illinois since 1872 are held liable for $321,001 illegally taken from the treasury. Restitution of this sum will have to be made, although it may require additional suits to compel it. While holding that the former officials must return the actual amounts which were drawn from the treasury illegally, the decision does not force the return of interest on this money. The court's decision holds that they are accountable for interest only from the time the demand for the return of the money was made by the state, which was about a year ago, and not for the entire period. The suit which was brought by Attorney General Stead, the defendants being represented by former Attorney General Hamilton, was directed against Henry Wulff and his bondsman, the late Floyd K. Whittemore, of Springfield, to force the return of $8,812 taken by Mr. Wulff as treasurer in 1896-97. This was made a test case. Mr. Stead won in the lower courts and the supreme court decision confirms the decree against the ex-treasurer and his bondsman. Of the living official or ex-officials made liable for the return, State Auditor James S. McCullough, now in office, is the hardest hit. Mr. McCullough is indebted to the state in the sum of $33,086. Charles C. Swigert, auditor in 1882-83, now dead, took $43,344 from the treasury, his being the largest sum, and his estate or his bondsmen will be held liable for that amount. The bondsmen are in worse shape than the officials themselves. Floyd K. Whittemore, who died a couple of months ago in Springfield, was bondsman for nine of the officials, and his estate, which has been estimated at a half million, will have to stand a heavy drain if the collection cannot be made off the officials themselves. Several banks also are said to have been interested on the bonds, and they may be called on to make good where the ex-officials cannot make payment. Of the ex-treasurers and auditors who are liable since 1872, when the funded bond law was passed, under which the officials took the fees which now they must return, Lippincott, Swigert, Rutz, Ridgway, Tanner, Rufus Ramsey, and Whittemore are dead, and others are said not to be financially responsible at the present time.

Direct Primary Fight On.

The direct primary law fight came up in the house as a special order on the calendar when John P. McGorty brought up his bill on motion to suspend the rules and advance the measure to second reading without reference to a committee. Mr. McGorty referred to the county feature of the present law as a standing joke, saying that it is absurd for a candidate to make a campaign for nomination, get the popular majority and then have the delegates nominate a man whose name never appeared on the primary election ballot. On motion of Chairman Lindly, of the steering committee, further consideration of Mr. McGorty's motion to suspend the rules was referred until next Wednesday.

Inheritance Tax Bill Killed.

Senator Humphrey's bill requiring the county treasurer of Cook county to pay into the county treasury the two per cent fee on inheritance taxes, as provided by the constitution, and which in the past has been retained by the county treasurer, failed to pass in the senate, the vote being 14 to 20.

Waterway Bills in Senate.

Senator Hall introduced in the senate two bills intended to carry out the proposed deep-waterway scheme of the sanitary board. The bills, which were drawn by the attorneys for the sanitary district, authorize the widening and deepening of the main channel, etc. For this purpose the district is granted certain rights in lands held by the Illinois and Michigan canal commissioners. The removal of canal No. 1 and lock No. 5 in Joliet in order to carry out the plans contemplated is also provided.

To Nullify Decision on Fees.

A bill is to be introduced in the legislature that will nullify the decision of the supreme court holding that former state auditors and state treasurers must return fees amounting to $321,001.65, collected by them in the registration and payment of registered bonds. It was given out that a supreme court judge suggested that the legislature pass a bill to relieve the auditors and treasurers involved, on the ground that many of those living would be forced into bankruptcy should they be compelled to disgorge under the terms of the court decision. The members of the legislature who are leading the relief-bill movement declare that in many instances the bondsmen are liable, as the principals are dead. For example, in the case of the late Auditor C. E. Lippincott, who served in 1875-76 and is held to account for $19,781.90, the bondsman who must make good is Dr. William Jayne, of Springfield, who is 80 years old and said to have only sufficient estate to permit him to end his days comfortably. The legislators also justify their intended course on the ground that the auditors and treasurers when they sought office did so with the understanding that the fees in question were part of the emoluments of the position.

State Loses a Point in Suit.

The state lost the first point in its fight with the Illinois Central railroad for the collection of several million dollars alleged to be due in back taxes. The supreme court dismissed the state's suit for an accounting and recovery of the state's alleged share of the gross receipts of the company. In dismissing the suit the court gave leave to the attorney general to withdraw the suit and file either in the circuit court or superior court, thus making it optional with the attorney general whether he shall institute proceedings in Sangamon or Cook county. The question of jurisdiction of the supreme court was touched upon in the brief oral decision which was rendered by Chief Justice Scott. The chief justice announced that the court was divided as to whether the suit involved revenue within the meaning of the constitution, and the court therefore in its discretion decided not to assume jurisdiction. Assistant Attorney General Dempsey said that the suit would be refiled promptly either in the circuit court of Sangamon county or in the superior court of Cook county. The decision of the supreme court will delay final action on the suit, probably a year or two, as the case ultimately will go to the supreme court.

Appropriation Bills in.

The first of the big omnibus appropriation bills made their appearance in the house when Chairman Shanahan of the committee on appropriations introduced two measures covering the ordinary and special expenses of the state normal institutions. The bill for the ordinary expenses of the institutions named carries a total appropriation of $559,000 for the two years ending June 30, 1909. The apportionments are as follows: Northern State Normal, DeKalb, $66,000; Eastern State Normal, Charleston, $55,000; State Normal university, Normal, $70,000; Western State Normal, Macomb, $60,000; Southern State university, Carbondale, $48,500. This is a total of $299,500 for each year. In addition to this the two normal universities are given for additional ordinary expenses, one-half of the interest on the college and seminary fund. The special appropriation bill carries the following: Northern State Normal, DeKalb, $8,000; Eastern State Normal, Charleston, $17,000; State Normal university, Normal, $110,000, including $100,000 for the erection of a manual-arts building and auditorium; Western State Normal, Macomb, $19,000; Southern Normal university, Carbondale, $7,000.

For Railroad Rate Classification.

Senator Hurlburt offered in the senate as a substitute for the two-cent maximum railroad fare bill passed by the house the classification bill prepared some time ago by a subcommittee of the senate railroad committee. This subcommittee bill originally provided for the classification of railroads into three divisions and the establishment of three rates of fare—two cents, two and one-half cents and three cents a mile—according to the gross earnings. It was decided to eliminate one of the classes of rates, that providing for a fare of two and one-half cents a mile, from the senate substitute committee bill, and in that form it was offered as an amendment to the house measure. The amendment, in addition to providing only two rates, stipulates that the railroad and warehouse commission shall reclassify the roads annually. A fine of $1,000 to $5,000 is to be imposed for violation of the act.

To Retain the Party Circle.

The committee on elections killed Mr. Schaefer's bill eliminating the party circle at the head of the ballot by reporting it out with an unfavorable recommendation.

Residence District Bill Passed.

With the passage of the Brown residence district bill by the senate, the upper branch of the general assembly laid the burden of local option legislation upon the shoulders of the house. The senate left the Brown bill stranded on third reading last week when it passed the Berry measure providing local option for the country districts. So much comment was excited, however, by the passing of the newer bill ahead of the older that the residence district measure was passed.

ZEAL WITHOUT COMMON SENSE.

Striking Example Related by the Late Dr. Field.

A Presbyterian clergyman was praising the late Dr. Henry Martin Field of Stockbridge, who for 44 years edited the Evangelist. "Dr. Field did so much good," he said, "because he went about his work diplomatically, sensibly reasonably. I once heard him declare that reformers failed often because the moment they started a reform they dropped common sense. Common sense was swallowed up in zeal. He said that a nerve cure faddist once entered a shop and leading the proprietor to one side whispered mysteriously: 'Ah, my friend, you can do the nerve untold good if you will only take the agency for our anti-tea preparation. It is warranted to cure in a week the most confirmed and nerve-racked tea tippler. Never again!'"

"But the dealer laughed and drew away. 'You have made a mistake,' he said. 'I can't take such an agency as that. Don't you see that this is a tea shop?'"

"'Oh, no mistake,' said the reformer eagerly. 'It is because you run a tea shop that I have sought you out. You come into constant contact with the very people we are trying to reach.'"

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

Gives Advice and Tells of Simple Home Mixture.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids, which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervous and Stomach troubles, Backache and painful, annoying urinary affections. It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals and at bedtime.

This simple home-made mixture will force the kidneys to normal, healthy action, so they will filter and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood, and expel this in the urine, at the same time restoring the "full blood count"—that is, 95 per cent. red blood corpuscles—which is absolutely indispensable to perfect health.

GONE FOREVER.

Ten years ago a farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce and three times he heard of it in the pocket of his neighbors.

The last time he got it back four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He never has seen that dollar since, and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the circle of usefulness to himself and his neighbors.

Patronize your local merchant who helps you to pay your taxes, support your schools and churches, and lends a helping hand in times of sickness and trouble.

No Offense.

First Stranger (on train)—Do you ever quarrel with your wife?
Second Stranger—Never.
First Stranger—Have any trouble with the hired girl?
Second Stranger—Not me.
First Stranger—Don't your children worry you at times?
Second Stranger—No, indeed.
First Stranger—Say, I don't like to call you a liar, but—
Second Stranger—Oh, that's all right. I'm a bachelor.

APPENDICITIS.

Not at All Necessary to Operate in Many Cases.

Automobiles and Appendicitis scare some people before they are hit. Appendicitis is often caused by too much starch in the bowels. Starch is hard to digest and clogs up the digestive machinery—also tends to form cakes in the cecum. (That's the blind pouch at entrance to the appendix.)

A N. H. girl had appendicitis, but lived on milk for awhile—then Grape-Nuts and got well without an operation.

She says: "Five years ago while at school, I suffered terribly with constipation and indigestion." (Too much starch, white bread, potatoes, etc., which she did not digest.)

"Soon after I left school I had an attack of appendicitis and for thirteen weeks lived on milk and water. When I recovered enough to eat solid food there was nothing that would agree with me, until a friend recommended Grape-Nuts.

"When I began to eat Grape-Nuts I weighed 98 lbs., but I soon grew to 115 lbs. The distress after eating left me entirely and now I am like a new person."

(A little Grape-Nuts dissolved in hot water or milk would have been much better for this case than milk alone, for the starchy part of the wheat and barley is changed into a form of digestible sugar in making Grape-Nuts.) Name given by Postum Co., Dattle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pigs. "There's a Reason."

DON'T GRUMBLE AT TRIFLES.

Twenty-five Bushels Wheat and Forty-five Bushels Oats Per Acre Are in Western Canada.

Salicots, Sask.,
8th December, 1906.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,
I willingly give you the result of my four and a half years' experience in the District of Salicots.

Previous to coming here I farmed in Baldwin, St. Croix County, Wisconsin, and as I have heard a great deal about the Canadian North-West, I decided to take a trip there and see the country for myself. I was so impressed with the richness of the soil that I bought half a section of land about five miles from the town of Salicots. I moved on to the land the following June and that year broke 90 acres, which I cropped in 1904, and had 39 bushels wheat per acre. In 1905, with an acreage of 160 acres, I had 24 bushels wheat and 35 bushels of oats per acre. In 1906, with 175 acres under crop, I had 25 bushels wheat and 45 bushels of oats per acre.

From the above mentioned yields you can readily understand that I am very well pleased with the Canadian West. Of course, I have had to work hard, but I don't mind that when I get such a good return for my labor.

To anyone thinking about coming to this country I can truthfully say that if they are prepared to work and not grumble at trifles, they are bound to get on. Some things I would like different, but take the country all round, I don't know where to go to get a better.

Yours truly,

(Signed) O. B. OLSON.

AGE TOLD BY THE PULSE.

From Birth to Death the Beats Have a Steady Decrease.

How old are you? Ask your pulse. The human pulse has a wide range, even in perfectly healthy persons.

The female pulse always beats faster than the male, and from birth to death the pulse beats steadily decrease. It has been said by great authorities that the age and sex of a person could be ascertained by the rate of the pulse alone. Babies at birth have a pulse beat of 160 times a minute in case of a girl and 150 in the case of boys. At the age of four or five the pulse beats will have fallen respectively to 110 and 100. Males and youths' pulses average 95 and 90. Mature men and women average 80 and 75. Elderly men and women have an average of 60 and 50. An old woman's pulse rarely, if ever, sinks below 50, but among men a pulse beat below 50 is quite common. There are, however, great variations consistent with health. Napoleon's pulse is said to have beaten only 44 times a minute.

A MISSOURI WOMAN

Tells a Story of Awful Suffering and Wonderful Relief.

Mrs. J. D. Johnson, of 603 West Hickman St., Columbia, Mo., says:

"Following an operation two years ago, dropsy set in, and my left side was so swollen the doctor said he would have to tap out the water. There was constant pain and a gurgling sensation around my heart, and I could not raise my arm above my head. The kidney action was disordered and passages of the secretions too frequent. On the advice of my husband I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using two boxes my trouble has not reappeared. This is wonderful, after suffering two years."

Queen's Most Prized Decoration.

One of the decorations of which the queen of Portugal is proudest is the medal of the British Humane society, which she was asked to accept after she had leaped into the harbor at Lisbon and saved a drowning man. On all great occasions this decoration is to be seen pinned on her dress. Her majesty, who is a sister of the Duchess of Aosta, recently visiting us, is another special favorite of the royal family, and, like her sister, was born at York House, Twickenham. Queen Amalia was one of the very first women to qualify herself as an M. D. She laughingly tells her friends that her most trying patient is King Carlos, whom for years she has tried to diet for "too solid flesh."—Tit-Bits.

Back to the Club.

The honeymoon was on the ragged edge of the last chapter.

"My dear," said the ex-bachelor, "I believe I'll teach you to play cards."

"That will be just too lovely for anything, darling," rejoined the young wife. "What game will you teach me?"

"Solitaire," answered the heartless wretch, who promised to love, honor, and pay the groceryman.

The executive board of the Wesley brotherhood has referred to its general convention to be held in October, 1907, the resolutions from the Brotherhood of St. Paul requesting the appointment of a committee to confer with a similar committee from the St. Paul Brotherhood concerning the unification of Methodist brotherhoods.

HENS KNEW THEIR BUSINESS.

Never Would They Lay Anything but the Freshest of Eggs.

There is a German dairyman and farmer, whose place is not far from Philadelphia, who greatly plumes himself upon the absolute superiority of his products above all others in the vicinity.

On one occasion he personally applied to a Germantown housekeeper for a transfer of her custom to himself. "I heard dot you haf a lot of drouble with dot dairyman of yours," he said. "Yust you gif me your custom and der vill be no drouble."

"Are your eggs always fresh?" asked the woman.

"Fresh!" repeated the German, in an indignant tone. "Let me doll you, madam, dot my hens nefer, nefer lay anything but fresh eggs!"

Astonished the Professor. At a recent examination a British candidate in the London College of Music defined a musical interval as "a short pause for refreshments."

WEIGHT AND HEALTH

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED THE TONIC TREATMENT.

This Woman Took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Gained Thirty Pounds and Has Been Well Ever Since.

How many women—and men too—are suffering from a general decline in health which the ordinary remedies seem unable to check! How many husbands see their wives wasting away, steadily losing health and beauty, and are powerless to help! Consumption and other germ diseases find in these debilitated systems easy prey, for the lowered vitality is unequal to the task of fighting off the infection of these diseases to which most of us are almost daily exposed.

The symptoms indicating the decline which may have results so fatal could scarcely be better described than in the statement of Mrs. William Manley, of 92 Court street, Utica, N. Y. Her case is a typical one. She says:

"For six months after the birth of my baby, I suffered from sick, dizzy headaches, which seemed like a rush of blood to my forehead, just back of my eyes. Some days they twinged so I could hardly see and black spots floated before them. The least exertion brought on this sickness. My appetite was poor and I was often sick to my stomach."

"If I tried to work my feet soon became swollen, paining me terribly. I had sinking spells and grew pale and nervous. I was so thin that I weighed only 95 pounds."

"One day when at the drug store to get headache powders I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills instead. I soon noticed that my headache was disappearing and my nerves gradually grew stronger. The pills gave me a hearty appetite and I now weigh over 120 pounds. I believe the pills to be the best tonic and builder a woman can take, as they certainly helped me when my condition was critical and I have never been seriously ill since."

The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills lies in the fact that they actually make new blood and thus carry health and strength to every portion of the body. The stomach is toned up, the nerves are strengthened, every organ is stimulated to do its work.

If you are ill and the treatment you are taking does not cure you, write for proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done in similar cases. Your druggist sells them or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

CHARACTER IN FACE

READING OF THE FEATURES NOW AN EXACT SCIENCE.

Temperament and Disposition of Individuals Plainly Shown, According to Woman Who Has Studied Subject.

The face as a map of character and disposition is the subject of an elaborate study by an English woman. She holds that the reading of the features can be reduced to an exact science.

There is an elaborate classification of eyes. Among the broad deductions is the dictum that dark eyes invariably indicate a strong, passionate nature, while light blue eyes show a calculating, cool and resolute character.

Light brown eyes are signs of intelligence, fancy, fickleness in love and a rapidly fluctuating temperament. A sure indication of oratorical gift is projecting eyes and they also betoken literary skill in the use of language.

A strongly developed nose is a mark of superior endowments. The owner of a big nose has more energy than the owner of a small one.

The nostrils also have their significance. Large nostrils indicate courage; little ones, cowardice. Long narrow ones show activity and bodily vigor. Broad nostrils opening toward the side show a predilection for horses.

Mouth and lips are full of suggestiveness. The man with a hanging underlip is apt to lack perseverance and concentration of purpose. The modest individual's lower lip is habitually pressed close against the upper lip at the center.

The chin and lower jawbone are important indices of character. True love is evident in a face in which the jawbone broadens clear back to the level of the wisdom teeth. This is true, both of men and women.

The youth who seeks an amiable spirit in his sweetheart must choose a girl with gently curving lower lips and full and well rounded chin; her eyes must be soft and brown. If she desires great constancy, he must look carefully to the spread of her lower jaw. Economy is promised by a jaw. Economy is promised by a widening of the nose just above the wings of the nostrils.

On the other hand, the young woman who desires an industrious husband should choose a man with long upper lip. If she desires even good temper in her spouse, she had best choose one with round face and curly hair.

Animals with Long Tongues. Giraffes and ant eaters have tongues nearly two feet in length.

THE FAMILY BIBLE MISSED.

Individual Records Are No Longer Kept with Exactness.

The family Bible, with its genealogical record, served a useful purpose in its day, said the librarian, "and I don't see that, with all our boasted advance in civilization, we have developed anything quite to take its place. Of course, nowadays, cities and towns pride themselves on the accuracy of their vital statistics, and we have whole libraries of genealogical works—dry enough most of them are, too. But the individual family record, such as was kept a few generations ago, is very decidedly missing, and it's a pity that such is the case."

"For one thing, the list of births, marriages and deaths that were kept in the ponderous volume of Holy Writ operated to keep the members of the family close to one another; it was, in a way, a central point, valuable for sentimental reasons as well as for reasons more distinctly utilitarian. As scribe succeeded scribe, the family continuity was emphasized and the entries were significant of the growth of a clanish feeling, which is too little in evidence at the present time. There are not, I venture to say, very many people in this year of grace who know anything or care anything about their relatives further removed than the degree of first cousinship, and even first cousins are frequently out of mind. Of course, our tendencies are responsible largely for this state of affairs, but I often wish that we had reminders of our kin, such as were furnished by the family Bible of past days with their direct personal testimony, amounting to messages from parents to children. Whenever I see one of these pages filled with careful entries—entries made in joy and in sorrow, in the confidence of pride of life or by the trembling fingers of old age, it seems to me that we have lost something in our hurried existence that is to be regretted. We can go to the city or town clerk or, perhaps, to the public library for information as to our ancestry or our relatives, but this is a rather cold and formal method of procedure. Certainly, we do not find in official records and in books the handwriting of our forebears."

Tillman Is Identified.

Senator Tillman tells a story on himself as to how he was identified by a post office money order clerk when he first arrived at the capital city.

After being in the city a few days he dropped in at the post office to cash a money order.

"Do you know any one here who could identify you?" asked the clerk.

"Well, no," the senator answered.

"Is that necessary? I am Ben Tillman of South Carolina."

The clerk smiled, then asked the senator if he didn't have some letters or papers that would make him known to the post office authorities.

The senator had on a new suit that morning, and had neglected to transfer his letters, but he had his pocket-book with him. Digging down in his trousers pocket, he drew forth his wallet and proceeded to search for an article of identification, but could find nothing but a small photograph of himself.

"This will do, I suppose," he said, handing it to the money order clerk.

"Why, sure. That's you, all right," remarked the man behind the counter, handing over the cash.—Rocky-Herald.

Draw Lots for Homes.

Houses are in great demand in Buckingham, England, but owing to the high price of land and the taxes building operations are limited. Recently half a dozen new houses were erected, and the applicants received a circular from the agents, of which the following is a copy: "With reference to your application to become tenant of one of the new houses, we beg to say that the number of applications we have received (all of which we would readily comply with if we had vacant houses for them) renders the task of selection so difficult that the owners have decided that the 'lots' shall be drawn for. If, therefore, you wish to take part in this, please attend at our office at six o'clock this evening, or send a trustworthy person with written authority to draw for you. In the event of your being successful in the drawing, no tenancy will be created until the agreement has been signed."

The House of Cornelle.

The house in which Cornelle lived at Rouen, and where he composed the "Cid," "Polyeucte," "China," and nearly all his beautiful plays, is for sale for $9,000, and a proposal has been made to open a public subscription for its purchase and preservation as an historical monument.

For the last 100 years periodical attempts have been made to secure it for the state, but always without success. In 1802 Napoleon himself took an interest in the question and urged the mayor to find the means for its purchase.

Cornelle, it is said, wrote most of his plays in the room adjoining the bar, and the jokes, noise and revel of the guests, it is added, used to be quite an inspiration to him. After 200 years the bar is still frequented by merry drinkers.

CARAVANS OF THE DESERT.

Gold Hunters and Consumptives Found Traveling Side by Side.

Ever journeying across the desert sands and climbing the arid peaks and foothills of the far southwest are two caravans—one seemingly rugged and healthy, though afflicted with a disease called goldomania, the other emaciated by the great white plague.

One is scarcely more optimistic than the other; one procession seeks a glittering yellow dust that means riches, the other a more precious thing—health. Though the trail may be long and the water holes infrequent; though the desert sun may be blistering and the tongue swollen with thirst; though the mountains may be steep and the path strewn with cacti, there is a little farther on for the argonaut; a lease of life at the horizon, when the red desert sun announces the dawn of another day, for the white plague's victim.

To many seeking their wonted vigor the hope that ever carries them onward is sometimes as futile as the race after the will-o'-the-wisp that lures the argonaut.

But the procession moves on and on; the pilgrims can not leave the sands until the mountain air and sunshine have healed the scars made by death's chief ally.

The main trail of the weak-lunged leads from Pecos to Yuma. For more than 1,000 miles prospector and plague-ridden traverse its tortuous course. In the caravan seeking gold nearly all are poor. In the caravan exiled and fighting for health there are rich and poor, high and low, democratic and fraternal in their ill and expectancy.

To some this hope is as uncertain of realization as the prospector's pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. But many who have early joined the pilgrims, after years of travel by day under the scorching sun and sleep by night in the pure air of the mountain top, end their allotted exile and return to the old home 1,000 or more miles distant.

But the ranks are soon recruited. And some there are who must travel along the great highway until the end.

Often times the bones of prospector and plague-ridden are found bleaching in the canyon. The skeleton hand of one is outstretched up the hillside, where others reach the goal—and gold; the bony fingers of the other point home.

Quick Thought Saved Ship.

The Russian war frigate Olaf, prior to the outbreak of the war with Japan, which had accompanied the yacht of the czarowitz to Copenhagen, was lying at anchor among hundreds of other ships in the harbor, when a fire was discovered in a coal cellar below, which was only a few feet from the powder magazine. There was no time to put out the fire before it could reach the magazine, and an explosion of the large stores of cartridges and gunpowder contained in it probably would have destroyed not only the Olaf and the surrounding ships, but part of Copenhagen itself.

Capt. Rehbinder, the commander of the Olaf, saw at once that the only thing to be done to prevent a catastrophe was to sink the ship. After sending away the crew, with the ship's papers, cash boxes and most valuable instruments in boats, he ordered the carpenters and engineers to make a leak in the vessel, and half an hour afterward she sank in shallow water. Next day she was raised again and sent off for repairs.

The court-martial unanimously expressed the highest praise of the conduct of the captain and his subordinates. The emperor appointed him his aide-de-camp, which is one of the highest honors conferred on Russian naval officers, and the officers and men received gratuities from the emperor's privy purse.—Sunday Magazine.

Nervous Bridegrooms.

"Bridegrooms are sometimes nervous; brides never," said the clergyman.

"A young butcher during his wedding ceremony got horribly tangled up with an unlighted cigar. He found himself, in his nervousness, with the cigar in his left hand when the solemn rite began. To put the ring on the bride's finger he hurriedly transferred the cigar to his right hand. When the right hand came into play, in his confusion he stuck the cigar in his mouth. With both hands occupied he looked at me helplessly when next he had to speak. I took the cigar from his pale lips and put it in his pocket for him."

"One young man was so nervous when I married him that, instead of saying: 'I, John, take thee, Mary, to be my lawful wedded wife,' he said, loud enough to be heard all over the church: 'I, Mary, take thee, John, to be my lawful wedded wife.'"

Anxious to Oblige.

The manager of a telephone exchange recently gave employment as an operator to a young woman whose previous employment had been in a department store. The girl seemed so bright and willing and possessed such a clear and distinct voice that the manager resolved to give her a trial.

The newcomer, who was all amiability and willingness, rapidly learned her new duties, but one day an incident occurred that betrayed her department store training.

In answer to a ring she had asked sweetly: "Number, please?"

"Let me have 325," said the patron. "I am sorry that 325 is busy just now," said the girl, "but I can let you have 323 or 326."

Trees a Buried Treasure. Pirate hoards of Spanish gold are not the only buried wealth one may seek with spade and pick. A wonderful relic of the past has just been brought to light in Peterborough, England, in the discovery of a buried forest.

At a depth of seven feet have been found a number of oak trees which have been covered for some 2,000 years. Most of the trees are almost perfect in condition, and are being sold to furniture manufacturers and others.

Altogether about 80 trees have been raised, and hundreds more are left in the ground, untouched at a depth of five or six feet. In nearly all the trees the roots are found attached. The wood is extremely hard, and can be worked only by machinery, as it turns the edge of an ax.—London Chronicle.

Easy to Tell the Difference. "Emme," said Margie, who was laboriously spelling words from a first reader, "how can I tell which is a 'd' and which is a 'b'?" "Why, replied Emme, wisely, 'the 'd' has its tummy on its back.'"

The Misery

Bitten By a Spider.

Through blood poison caused by a spider bite, John Washington, of Bosneville, Tex., would have lost his leg which had become a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes, the first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores. Heals every sore. 25 c. at J. H. Swan's, druggist.

Best Books Cheapest.

Seriously speaking, books are so cheap nowadays that poverty is no excuse for ignorance, says the Practical Teacher. And, what is excellent, the best books are cheapest. The new reprints of standard and classical authors in every department of literature put the world of knowledge within the reach of the working man, whereas formerly books were the luxury of wealth.

Nothing so good as Cascasweet, writes a mother who has used it. It saved my baby's life, writes another. Cascasweet is a vegetable corrective for the disorders of a child's stomach. Contents on the bottle in plain English. 50 doses for 25. Recommended by J. H. Swan.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all cough cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poisons enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package. For this reason mothers and others should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Sold by all dealers.

So Was He.

"It turned out just as I feared. My uncle didn't leave me any of his real estate in his will." "Then your fears were groundless, weren't they?"—Kansas City Times.

Pale, Thin, Nervous?

Then your blood must be in a very bad condition. You certainly know what to take, then take it—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you doubt, then consult your doctor. We know what he will say about this grand old family medicine.

This is the first question your doctor would ask: "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to recovery. Keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.
